NEW BUSINESS:

 $$\operatorname{Mr.}$ Ron Silvers discussed his work with the Montana Developmental Center and the Department of Health and Human Services in developing realistic standards of treatment for developmentally disabled sexual offenders. These standards would address issues involving adjudication of DD offenders, funding of treatment, developing of safe guards, the possibility of civil commitments and the coordination of agencies. If you are interested in being involved in this $\,$ process please contact Jeff Sturm or Dr. Robert Brown at MDC in Boulder. Members may also contact Ron for more information. Ron will be following up on this issue during the July meeting. In addition, Mr. Andrew Hudak reports that Andrew Harris, the God of risk assessments, indicates that the R-RAZOR is the #1 risk assessment when determining the risk of DD sexual offenders.

Regina Basolo reports that she is running parent groups for the parents of adolescent sexual offenders and believes that this has been a very effective process. She strongly encourages other providers to institute parent groups into their treatment programs.

Dr. Robert Page, newly elected VP of MSOTA, reports that Jessica's Law is becoming a growing concern in the treatment of sexual offenders. He indicates that offenders could receive 25 years to life if they are convicted of a $\,$ sexual crime. Many states have already adopted this statute, and there is concern that Montana may explore the issue in the near future, limiting judges' flexibility in sentencing sexual offenders. Bob encourages everyone to familiarize themselves with this law. The Legislative Committee will follow up on any movement in the State which may suggest further progress in adopting Jessica's Law.
